Dear Fellow Arkansans,

Today, we celebrate the life and work of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. I was pleased to join other Arkansans this morning in the 26th Annual Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Parade in downtown Little Rock.

Across Arkansas, communities are hosting events in honor of Dr. King, who urged Americans to dedicate ourselves to serving our communities and to upholding human and civil rights for all people. In the words of Dr. King, Everybody can be great because anybody can serve.

The holiday serves as a reminder for all of us to renew our commitment to helping our friends, families, and neighbors in need.

While working together for the common good, we can learn to recognize our similarities and appreciate the diversities that enrich our lives every day and serve as a wellspring of strength for our nation as a whole.

With Arkansas Pride,
